

Colouring

Birmingham New Street station is a major transport hub. The concourse is enclosed by a giant atrium with wishbone-shaped arched trusses, allowing natural light to flow through the station.

